COVER ARTIST:
TOM RICHMOND

Dear MAD Kids,

I bought a MAD Kids the other day and I loved it. If you were to compare it to all the magazines in the world, you would beat them by the height of Mt. Everest. I can't wait to get another issue. P.S. "Diarrhea of a Wimpy Kid" was so funny and realistic that when I read it in MAD Kids #12, I thought that it was a sneak peek of a new book!

Matthew H., 9, Williamston, MI

Matthew — We thought we'd beat other magazines by that much, too! But when we opened up a MAD Kids magazine stand on top of Mt. Everest, we didn't sell a single copy — go figure! —Ed.

MAD KIDS SUPER STAR SNAPS

Diary Of A Wimpy Kid author, Jeff Kinney, is all smiles as he takes his picture with Matthew B., 10, of North Attleboro, MA. Of course, he is all smiles because he hadn't yet seen our takeoff "Diarrhea of a Wimpy Kid" in MAD Kids #12...

...when he did, his mood changed considerably!

Artwork by Tatum T., 10, San Francisco, CA

Dear MAD Kids,

Out of all the issues I've read, this one (MAD Kids #12) is the best. My favorite part was the Camp Rock Slide fake-out DVD cover. It is a great thing to put in this magazine, considering most people don't like the movie Camp Rock. Plus, if I get in this magazine my friends will be really jealous.

Michael P., 11, Richardson, TX

Michael — So by printing your letter, not only are all your friends jealous, but now everybody that likes Camp Rock is angry at you! Glad we could help make you so unpopular! Thanks for writing! —Ed.

HEY! IT'S A SPECIAL GIVEAWAY!

Our friends at Konami have been generous enough to give every reader who had their letters printed a Blue Dragon role playing card set. Don't worry if your letter didn't make it in, the stuff is on sale now!

LOOK AT THIS!

Everyone who had a letter or picture printed on this issue's Letters Page will receive some really great stuff!

First up is a three-pack DVD of It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown, Scooby Doo and the Goblin King and Tweety and Sylvester Mysteries: Season 1 all courtesy of our friends at Warner Home Video.

Next it's the Are You Smarter Than a 5th Grader? Handheld Game — Pop Quiz Edition courtesy of our friends at Techno Source.

But wait, there's more! You'll receive the U.B. Funkeys Dream State Starter Kit courtesy of our friends at Radica Games.

And finally, you'll get the videogame Monster Lab courtesy of our friends at Warner Interactive Entertainment!

DUMBEST PET PICTURE OF THE MONTH

My dad warned me that if I left any of my toys out at night our dog would chew them up. I accidentally left my Mad Kids out and my dad took these pictures of our dog.

Austin M., 8, Kingwood, TX

Austin's dog reads MAD Kids and collapses with laughter... or a bad case of gas!

YOUR GANG

Jackson G., 11, of Allendale, NJ (fourth from left) and friends enjoy a rock-climbing and MAD Kids-reading birthday party! By the way, where's the cake?

Dear MAD Kids,

I got MAD Kids and it is awesome. I loved "Diarrhea of a Wimpy Kid." It took me three days to find Wall•E in "Where's Wall•E?"!

Campbell W., 10, Los Angeles, CA

Campbell — It took you three days to find Wall•E? Maybe you would have found him quicker if you hadn't taken breaks for sleeping and eating! —Ed.

The MAD KIDS Chat Room

This Month: HOWIE MANDEL

We asked the funny, fist-bumping host of Deal or No Deal to pick 21 briefcases containing silly questions – and before the banker could make him a better offer, he accepted ours!

MAD KIDS: Deal or No Deal features what seems like 10,000 identically-dressed models carrying matching briefcases with the money. How do you remember all their names?

HOWIE MANDEL: Why do people always wonder about that? It's simple! I know them all because I work with them every day and they always stand in the exact same spot. I don't see how people can get them mixed up. Also, there are only 26 models. My daughter is a teacher with 35 students and she knows their names! And they're running all over the place like maniacs!

MK: You seem like you'd be a cool dad. What's the hardest thing about raising your three kids?

HM: Remembering their names.

MK: Have any of Deal of No Deal's 26 models ever dropped their briefcase or been unable to open it?

HM: Yes. It happens all the time. And if a briefcase drops, even backstage before a show, it shuts the show down for an hour because they have to repack all the cases in a secret room so that nobody knows what's in which case. That's so nobody can wink or give a signal or say "Not that case!" Not only do models drop the cases, but they drop themselves. Models have fallen down the stairs. It's very hard to walk down stairs, looking forward, in high heels. I should know.

MK: Who is the mysterious Deal or No Deal Banker, and has the cheapskate ever offered to buy you dinner?

HM: I have no interest in going to dinner with him. He's a mean man.

MK: If you could host or be a contestant on any other game show, which would it be?

HM: We're doing another game now based on the books and board games called "Would You Rather?" where you give contestants a choice — would you rather do this or would you rather do that — and each choice is ickier than the last.

MK: How do you think you would do on Are You Smarter than a Fifth Grader?

HM: If it was "Are You Smarter than a Third Grader?" I would do fine.

MK: In addition to Would You Rather? and Deal or No Deal you also have an upcoming hidden-camera show called Howie Do It. What's the funniest moment you've caught so far?

HM: We played a prank with a girl in a fake yoga class. She thinks she's part of a group making a how-to yoga DVD teaching new "Soul Release" yoga techniques. What she doesn't know is that everyone else in the "class" is an actor who has a special talent: they can all control their farts. When they do their yoga moves and stretches it's not just their souls that are released.

MK: What secret talents do you have?

HM: None of my talents are a secret. I don't edit myself, so whatever I think of, I've always done. Everything I do is what you see...which as an adult is great! But as a kid...not so great. It was mostly embarrassing and I got in trouble for bad behavior.

MK: What's the worst trouble you got into?

HM: The worst thing I got in trouble for in school was when I got out the Yellow Pages and I called contractors to measure and bid to build an addition to the library. All these workmen came to school and were measuring the library. The principal asked what they were doing. They said "We're preparing an estimate of the cost for a new addition to the library." The principal said "Who said you can do this?" They showed him the work order with my name on it. The principal was livid and called me into the office. He said "You're in big trouble. You're a kid! You don't have the authority to hire that work crew!" I said, "But I was never going to do that. I was going to be responsible about it and get three estimates." That's when he called my parents. I don't know if my stunts were funny, but they were outrageous.

Howie makes three very important points.

MK: What other kinds of pranks did you pull in school?

HM: As a kid I liked making people laugh, so I was always doing goofy things in class. Once my brilliant idea was to take a chocolate bar and throw it into the pool so that the teachers would see this little brown, log-like thing at the bottom and think somebody pooped in the pool. The principal even made an announcement on the loudspeaker to see who had defiled the pool, so, of course, then everyone went to go see the poop. At lunch time, when everybody was there I said, "I'll get it" and I dived in and came up with the "poop" in my mouth.

MK: And what was the principal's response?

HM: I was asked to leave that school.

MK: What's your advice for readers who want to develop their own comedy skills?

HM: My advice is the opposite for pranks. When it comes to being funny, just do it. It's Nike that said it first, not me. Just do it, but don't misbehave. Everything I've been in trouble for and expelled for...I just did it. But everything I got in trouble for as a kid is what I get paid to do now as a grownup. For me it was more luck than skill.

MK: In the classic movie Gremlins, you were the voice of Gizmo, the cute Gremlin. Have you ever counted the number of different voices you can make?

HM: I was Bobby in Bobby's World, Gizmo in Gremlins and I was also Skeeter in Muppet Babies, but if you listen really closely, those three voices are all the exact same voice. But I do other voices too. I was Animal and Bunsen Honeydew in Muppet Babies.

MK: Is it true that you once grew a mustache on the side of your face instead of the standard under-the-nose location?

HM: Yes. I wanted a mustache but I didn't want to get food in it and I didn't want it to tickle my lip. So I grew it on the side of my face. I had a real mustache — it just wasn't where everyone else's is.

MK: Who does your hair? And how often do you shave your head?

HM: I do it myself. I don't know why I should have somebody else shave it. Does your dad have someone shave his face every morning? The only difference between that and me shaving my head is just that my cheeks are higher than most people's. So whenever I shave my face I just start with my cheeks which happen to be at the top of my head.

MK: What's the best thing about being bald?

HM: It's aerodynamic, so it cuts 3.7 seconds off my time. And it saves the normal shaving time, too, because I never have to even out my sideburns.

MK: How many bathrooms do you have?

HM: In my house? We have a few, but I have my own personal bathroom with one of those electronic toilet seat covers where the clean plastic cover goes around. The bathroom is my least favorite room of the house. I'm a germaphobe so I wish I didn't have to go. If you could see me in a public bathroom it's like Cirque du Soleil because I can't touch anything.

MK: Do you have any pets?

HM: We have pets in the house but they're my wife's and my children's. I don't touch them because of germs. We have three dogs, a ferret, some fish and a very foul-mouthed bird. We didn't teach him the bad words, my wife takes in animals that need homes so we got him that way. The store had to get rid of him because they couldn't sell him that way. You can't print the things he says. A quote would look like "$@#% you, @$%^*^#$!" Whatever you're not allowed to say in MAD Kids, that bird can say.

MK: On your official website you have a video-blog of you making a tuna sandwich, and another of a mounted deer head chanting "blog blog blog" for two minutes. Why?

HM: I don't know. But on behalf of everyone I know and love I will be glad to accept a nomination for the Pulitzer Prize.

MK: What's the coolest thing about having your own star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame?

HM: Having my name permanently on a Walk of Fame plaque is cool because I don't have to go and write my name on the sidewalk anymore.

MK: How would you like to end this interview?

HM: With the last question! That would be the best way, don't you think?

MK: We do! Then that's our last question, Howie...Deal!

My name is Kat. And I totally see dead people...

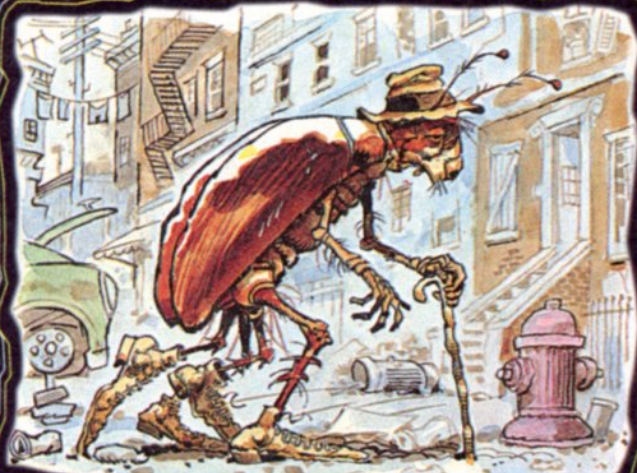

The undead are ruining my life and I blame my mother. She's a medium, and I don't mean the kind that fits between small and large. She's been able to interact with the dead for years, which has made my house an interesting place. But the major problem is that now I can see dead people too—and let me tell you, the dead have serious boundary issues!
